

Athens international
Creative Writing
summer school

17 June - 13 July 2013

Are you passionate about writing?

The British Council Greece and Kingston Writing School are proud to announce the first International Creative Writing Summer School in Athens, in partnership with Kingston University, London. The International Creative Writing Summer School will give writers from across the world the opportunity to work with leading writers from Kingston University and visiting writers from Greece in an open, inspiring yet focused environment in the beautiful city of Athens.

Whether you are an aspiring writer embarking on your first writing project, an accomplished writer, poet or scriptwriter; or a writer somewhere in between; the Athens International Creative Writing Summer School will help you develop and enhance your writing skills and maximise the impact of your work.
